Editors Note

It seems we are coming out of the issues and danger which was posed initially by COVID -19, as we can see increase in the business graph across the world if we compare it with last two years!

Gradually the countries now seem to easing down the travel restrictions and to some extent the travel is picking up and for sure this is much applicable to Dubai, UAE in terms of inward and outward travel. Especially in regard to the inward tourism due to one of the most exciting way Dubai has portray and making it "event of the century, Expo 2020 Dubai".

Along with travel and tourism the business and shopping also reflects the positive surge in the graph. Which is very much encouraging and positive news for all of us, as every one of us is directly or indirectly affected by its upward or downward trends?

We wish all once again a very prosperous, enjoyable and peaceful time ahead all of us!

KELIMUTU - THE BOILING LAKE

Kelimutu is a volcano, close to the small town of Moni in central Flores island in Indonesia. It is around 50 km to the east of Ende, Indonesia, the capital of Ende regency in East Nusa Tenggara province. It has three volcanic crater lakes that differ in color i.e Red, Blue and White.

In recent years, tourism has exploded in Indonesia, and it is now one of the country's primary sources of foreign currency profits. Tourism contributed IDR 536.8 trillion to Indonesia's GDP in 2017, accounting for 4.1 percent of the country's total GDP. Tourism provided 12.7 million jobs in the same year, accounting for 10.5 percent of overall employment. The tourism sector outperformed the Indonesian economy's overall expansion, bringing in IDR 200 billion.

Bali is the westernmost of the Lesser Sunda Islands and an Indonesian province. Traditional and modern dance, sculpture, painting, leather, metalworking, and music are among the highly developed arts. Every year in Bali, the Indonesian International Film Festival takes place. Other international events conducted in Bali include the Miss World 2013 pageant and the International Monetary Fund and World Bank Group Annual Meetings in 2018. Bali was named the world's top destination in TripAdvisor's Traveler's Choice award in March 2017, and again in January 2021.

Kelingking Beach

Nusa Penida

ABOUT KELINGKING BEACH

Rare moment captured by @watchluke; monkey sitting in front of the landscape of Kelingking beach in Nusa Penida

Nusa Penida, Bali's rarely-visited treasure, is a solitary but vibrant island in the southeast of the island, separated by Badung Strait. This island is truly a distinct kind of paradise, with some of Indonesia's most breathtaking vistas. The natural wonders of Nusa Penida are no less spectacular than those found in Bali. Furthermore, because the island hasn't been visited by many people, the nature around Nusa Penida is still relatively untouched. The hills are a brilliant shade of green, and the beaches are beautiful sands and waterways.

Beautiful View with Beautiful Sunsets

Kelingking Beach is at the top of the list, with around 338,000 photographs of this tropical paradise on Instagram. Kelingking Beach has gained this designation because the area is loaded with unusual vistas that entice visitors to capture as many photos as they can. You may see why the surroundings around here are regarded unusual if you visit Cap de T-Rex, a nearby viewpoint. From this vantage point, the massive cliff that takes up the majority of Kelingking Beach resembles a Tyrannosaurus Rex or T-Rex with its jaws open.

Maluku & Papua

Paradise of the East

Ternate and Tidore are two nearly identical little islands west of Halmahera, virtually facing each other, each sculpted by a volcano rising from the depths of the Maluku Sea. While Mt Gamalama dominates Ternate, Mt Kiemtabu rises in Tidore.

Ternate's volcanic nature has provided the island with fertile farmland and black glistening sand beaches. Colorful boats of varying sizes lie in the shallow blue water around the island today, sheltered by swaying coconut trees.

The island is a flavorful and historical pleasure for culinary and history enthusiasts, satisfying any thirst for knowledge or desire to enjoy delectable cuisine. It's also fun to see the nice natives entertain themselves.

How to Get There

Garuda Indonesia now flies from Jakarta to Ternate, with a stopover in Manado. The island is served by the Babullah Airport, which offers a variety of flights. The North Maluku shipping hub is at Ternate, and the PELNI liners dock at Ahmad Yani port if you want to travel by boat.

Jetties can also be found at Bastiong. These ferries connect Ternate to Tidore (Rum). Overnight ferries are also available to Bitung.

JAVA

THE LAND OF A THOUSAND HISTORIES

Much of the well-known parts of Indonesian history took place on Java. It was the centre of powerful Hindu-Buddhist empires, the Islamic sultanates, and the core of the colonial Dutch East Indies. Java was also the center of the Indonesian struggle for independence during the 1930s and 1940s.

Borobudur Temple is one of the most famous attractions in Indonesia and consists of a large Buddhist temple complex in Central Java. It is easy to visit Borobudur from the neighboring city of Yogyakarta on a day trip, and the temple is an impressive relic of a different time, having been built in the 9th century.

LABUAN BAJO

THE PORT TO PARADISE

HISTORY & PRESENT

On the westernmost tip of the Island of Flores sits the town of Labuan Bajo. It lies peacefully, with many wonders waiting for you to explore. Labuan Bajo was only a small fishing site, but flourished to become the gateway to many exotic destinations in East Nusa Tenggara

There are some interesting destinations that you can discover inside the city. The Mirror Cave is located only 4 kilometers away from Labuan Bajo. It is said that Dutch archaeologist, Theodor Verhoeven,, who believed Labuan Bajo was once located underwater, founded this cave in 1951. The local name for the cave is Goa Batu Cermin. You can see the reflective stones shine at you in some parts, hence, the name “Goa Batu Cermin.” It translates to “stone mirror cave.”

The Raja Ampat

The Raja Ampat Islands are an Indonesian archipelago off the northwest tip of Bird's Head Peninsula in West Papua. Comprising hundreds of jungle-covered islands, Raja Ampat is known for its beaches and coral reefs rich with marine life. Ancient rock paintings and caves are on Misool Island, while the crimson bird of paradise lives on Waigeo Island. Batanta and Salawati are the archipelago's other main islands

The sparsely populated Raja Ampat Islands comprise more than 1500 islands just off Sorong. With their sublime scenery of steep, jungle-covered islands, fine white-sand beaches, hidden lagoons, spooky caves, weird mushroom-shaped islets and pellucid turquoise waters, Raja Ampat is without question one of the most beautiful island chains in the world.

Netherlands

An insight into the largest flower producing country in the world

Erik Smidt
Agricultural Counsellor for the GCC
Embassy of the Kingdom of the Netherlands

The Netherlands is the largest Player on the Floriculture Export Market. Cooperation in Horticulture between the UAE and the Netherlands:

The United Arab Emirates (UAE) and the Netherlands are cooperating in innovation of the Horticultural sector. Introduction of high tech systems in horticulture, will lead to more local production in the UAE in line with the UAE's National Food Security Strategy. Both domestic production and secure, stable imports of food have become top priority on the UAE's agenda. In addition to the aim of establishing the country as a world leading hub in innovation.

The Netherlands is the largest flower producing country in the world with about 68% contribution of the annual flower production. The Netherlands is known as the country of world's beautiful flowers. It is world famous for its wide fields of tulips with wonderful colors. Around 2 billion of these tulips are exported to many countries worldwide. The United Arab Emirates could soon be known for its roses. Since last February, three million roses have been exported from Advanced Horticulture's farm - just outside Al Hayer, which is about halfway between Dubai and Al Ain - to Holland

The United Arab Emirates prefer to import Dutch flowers because the Netherlands is the main hub for international floral trade. The Netherlands import flowers from different countries (Ecuador, Ethiopia, Kenya, and others). This is why some Dutch flower exporters can sell any flower available and this attracts foreign flower wholesalers and flower shop.

Flowers are one of the main export products in the Netherlands and especially tulips and roses. The most important countries who import Dutch flowers and plants are Germany, the United Kingdom, France, Italy and Russia. But also a lot of other countries in the world import their flowers from Holland

Don't miss the opportunity to visit the biggest Flower Show and Flower Carnival event to be held in October 2022 in Abu Dhabi organized by Motion International Exhibition

Netherlands, the land of flowers

The Netherlands floriculture market is projected to register a CAGR of 4.7% during the forecast period (2021-2026). Floriculture is one of the lucrative industry in Netherlands. Spring is usually the busiest time of year at the Aalsmeer Flower Auction in the Netherlands, the world's blossom trade capital. For the Netherlands, flowers are a major industry. Roughly 60% of the country is devoted to agriculture or horticulture, and the multi-billion-euro flower industry accounts for 10% of its Gross Domestic Product. The flower market in the Netherlands is a dynamic, fast-growing global industry, defined by three major components, growers, wholesalers, and retailers.

The United Arab Emirates prefer to import Dutch flowers because the Netherlands is the main hub for international floral trade. The Netherlands import flowers from different countries (Ecuador, Ethiopia, Kenya, and others). This is why some Dutch flower exporters can sell any flower available and this attracts foreign flower wholesalers and flower shop.

In most cases, the flowers will be sold at the FloraHolland auctions in Aalsmeer, Naaldwijk and Rijnsburg. Aalsmeer is world's biggest floral auction. Flower export companies will transport the flowers by truck or airplane. To make sure flowers will reach the client in a perfect condition, flowers must be transported under special circumstances. The total revenue of Royal FloraHolland was roughly 4.65 billion euros in 2020. Examining the revenue of cut flower sales by type of Royal FloraHolland, roses were the leading cut flower in 2020 with a sales value of 634 million euros.

Why the Netherlands is the perfect country for tulip growing? The soil in the polders is continuously drained, creating perfect growing conditions for tulip bulbs, which love well drained but moist soil

However, The COVID-19 pandemic has plunged the world's largest flower auction on the outskirts of Amsterdam into chaos. The cut flower sales volume in the auction has been decreased to 595,064 thousands and 557,436 thousands in March, and April 2020 respectively than 762,513 thousands and 695,516 thousands in 2019 of the same period respectively.

In 2019, the Netherlands export accounted for 47.9% of the global exports in the cut flower segment and ranked 1st in the same year. In 2020, the Netherlands exported 551,098 metric ton of cut flowers valued at USD 4,260,31 thousand. Thus, the increased demand for cut flowers globally is driving the export market in the Netherlands.

There is a huge potential for export of floriculture products and is long term driving force, given it adopts improved production technologies. Therefore, the attractive growth in export market is anticipated to influence the significant market growth over the forecast period.

MNEMBA ISLAND, TANZANIA

Mnemba Island is a romantic getaway with twelve rustically elegant beachside bandas for only 24 guests, all connected to the stunning Mnemba atoll.

On this secluded island, discover pure, unadorned paradise, where simple joys create your most treasured memories for many years to come. Relax and unwind on your own length of beach, where simple yet luxurious bandas peer out from the dappled shadow of the casuarina pine forest onto immaculate dunes. Beautiful open views of the beach and stunning panoramas of Zanzibar may be found in the thatched eating, lounge, and bar spaces.

For those who choose to sleep in late, late breakfast trays filled with tropical fruit, freshly squeezed juice, and Tanzanian coffee can be provided to the beach banda. If visitors want to appreciate the gorgeous sunset in secret, fresh sushi and chilled champagne can be delivered quietly to their beach loungers. On the beach, romantic candlelit meals are served with the waves softly lapping at the guests' feet. Allow yourself to unwind and unwind in the calm seclusion of your banda with yoga and massages.

About

BOM BOM Island

The island nation of So Tomé and Prncipe, located off the coast of West Africa in the Gulf of Guinea, is home to some incredibly stunning beaches. With a population of about 8,000 people, Príncipe is the smaller of the two islands. Bom Bom Island Resort, an eco-friendly hotel choice on Prncipe's northern shore, is home to two of the island's nicest beaches. It has a bar and restaurant on a small islet connected to the mainland by a lengthy boardwalk. Prncipe's pristine forests are a birdwatcher's heaven. Snorkeling, whale watching, deep-sea fishing, and keeping an eye out for the region's nesting turtles are among the other activities available.

History of Magazine Publication

Home to soul-stirring basalt peaks, some of the most biodiverse rainforests on the planet, golden beaches, and spirited communities who are deeply connected with the natural environment, the islands of São Tomé and Príncipe are truly special. Formed 31 million years ago by volcanic activity in the Gulf of Guinea, São Tomé and Príncipe is Africa's second smallest country, yet perhaps its most spectacular. Its address at 1°N, 7°E places this archipelago as close to the centre of the world as it gets.

QUIRIMBAS ARCHIPELAGO, MOZAMBIQUE

Best Time to Go: May to September
Perfect For: Honeymooners, scuba divers

Picture 32 pristine coral islands washed by the crystalline waters of the Indian Ocean, and you'll have a good idea of the paradise that awaits you in Mozambique's Quirimbas Archipelago. In 2002, 11 of the most southerly islands came under the protection of the Quirimbas National Park, set up to protect the region's magnificent wildlife. To see the region at its most beautiful you'll have to go underwater, where thriving reefs provide the opportunity to dive or snorkel with Napoleon wrasse, dolphins, whitetip reef sharks and a myriad of colorful tropical fish species. Ibo Island also holds some cultural interest, thanks to a series of ruins that date back to the country's Portuguese colonial past; while restaurants across the archipelago specialize in local cuisine.

The Quirimbas Islands lie in the Indian Ocean off northeastern Mozambique, close to Pemba, the capital of the province of Cabo Delgado. The archipelago consists of about 32 islands, including Ibo, Matemo, Medjumbe, Quirimba, Metundo, Quisiva, Vamizi Island and Rolas Island all going up to the Tanzanian border.

ANSE SOURCE D'ARGENT, SEYCHELLES

The Seychelles archipelago has long been one of the world's most romantic destinations and its beaches feature frequently in global Top 10 lists. One of the island nation's most famous beaches is Anse Source D'Argent, located on the island of La Digue. This stretch of pure white sand is perhaps the archetypal paradise beach, with dramatic boulders, shallow turquoise waters and gently curving palm trees. It's a great place to soak up the sunshine or go snorkeling, although its perfect beauty also makes it a popular stop for visiting day-trippers. If you'd rather avoid the crowds, head to the more exclusive beaches on remote Desroches, Denis, or Fregate islands.

Highlights:

The absolutely breathtaking scenery is the real highlight of Anse Source d'Argent. The mixture of shallow, clear water, golden sand, and imposing granite formations make it one of the most picturesque beaches anywhere in the world, and one that's well worth visiting for anyone taking a holiday to the Seychelles.

At a Glance:

- World-famous beach, and one of the most photographed spots in the whole world thanks to its amazing natural beauty.
- The beach is protected from the open ocean by a coral reef, ensuring the water is shallow and calm, with small waves.
- Extremely family-friendly thanks to the shallow, clear water, protected by the coral reef.
- Restaurant, toilets, and parking can all be found near the entrance to the beach, as well as several fruit stands at the far end of the beach.
- Natural shade provides protection from the sun.
- Visitors are advised to come early, as the beach is particularly busy between 10.00 and 17.00 each day.

LAMU ARCHIPELAGO, KENYA

Lamu is a collection of islands located off the coast of Kenya north of Mombasa. The beaches of Shela Village on the main island offer the quintessential Indian Ocean ingredients: powdery white sands, excellent snorkeling, and clear blue waters. Founded by the Swahili people nearly 700 years ago, Lamu Town is a UNESCO World Heritage Site and one of Kenya's oldest settlements. Its quiet, narrow streets are fascinating to explore and the fact that there are no cars available for visitors on the island just enhances the sense of stepping back in time. To see more of the archipelago's secret beaches, book an island-hopping cruise on a traditional dhow.

Lamu Island, a Unesco World Heritage Site since 2001 and a centre of Swahili and Islamic culture for over 700 years, is the most popular and most developed of the islands and its hotels have gained a well-deserved reputation for delivering a superb 'barefoot luxury' experience.

Trou-aux-Biches, Mauritius

Situated off the east coast of Madagascar, Mauritius is another Indian Ocean archipelago with endless opportunities for beachfront relaxation. One of the country's best beaches is located on the main island, near the small town of Trou-aux-Biches. A mile-long stretch of fine sand, the town's public beach boasts calm, family-friendly waters. Its west coast location means that it is largely sheltered from the weather during the rainy season, while local restaurants serve cuisine that reflects Mauritius' multicultural heritage. Watersports keep children and adults entertained, and the southern end of the beach offers a range of accommodation options to suit all budgets.

Perfect For: Couples, nature lovers

Île Sainte-Marie is a small island off the coast of eastern Madagascar where, until recently, your luggage was wheelbarrowed from the tiny airport to your hotel. This tropical haven has year-round sunshine, wonderfully warm waters, and pristine white sand beaches flanked by palm trees. During the 17th century, the island was a famous hideaway for pirates, and there is a pirate graveyard near the main town. In season (July to September), you can see humpback whales and dive among beautiful coral gardens. Stay at Princesse Bora, an expensive eco-resort; Baboo Village, a mid-range alternative; or Vanivola, a comfortable 2-star option.

Curralinho Beach, Cape Verde

Cape Verde is a group of ten volcanic islands off the coast of Senegal with wild, undeveloped beaches. Because of the country's Portuguese background, all of the islands have a distinct Brazilian flavor. While most visitors come to enjoy the beaches, many return year after year for the great food, sunshine, and morna music. Curralinho Beach, on the island of Boa Vista, is probably one of Cape Verde's best beaches. The water is warm, there is little current, the diving is great, and the waves are ideal for surfing. On the island, there are numerous lodging options, including a few all-inclusive resorts.

Cape Town is perhaps most famously known for being home to the inspirational South African president and national treasure, Nelson Mandela. The Bo-Kaap is a colourful hub of history, culture, music and flavour.

The Mother City offers it all, including world-class restaurants, fantastic culture, and some of the continent's most gorgeous beaches. Whether you're an animal lover looking to swim with penguins at Boulders Beach or a pro surfer looking to take on the seasonal huge waves off Hout Bay, the Cape Town area has something for everyone. Bloubergstrand is arguably the most photogenic beach, with its white sands overlooking Table Bay and the distinctive shape of Table Mountain. In the summer, fashionable Camps Bay Beach is the place to be seen, while Llandudno Cove, a little farther south, is a calm retreat for those seeking peace and quiet.

Likoma Island, Malawi

Famed for its magnificent cathedral

The little pristine Likoma Island is located in the north-eastern corner of Lake Malawi, near Mozambican seas. Crystal clean seas, sandy beaches, and a variety of cichlids – some of which are native to the Likoma area – surround the island.

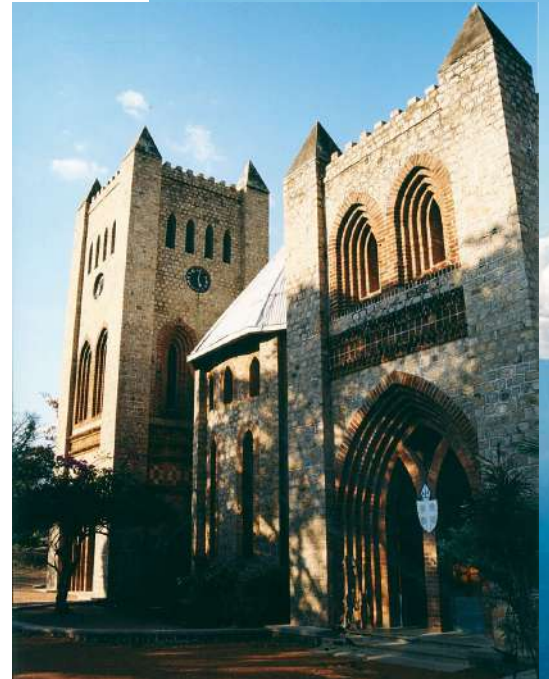

For a truly unique beach vacation, consider a trip to Lake Malawi. It's the third largest lake in Africa, and its clear waters and golden beaches are reminiscent of the coast, except with fresh water. Likoma Island is located inside the Mozambican border but technically belongs to Malawi. It has several gorgeous beaches and a luxurious eco-friendly resort, Kaya Mawa. Alternatively, Mango Drift Backpackers offers a great budget accommodation option. Likoma is very peaceful with just a few cars on the island. You can walk inland to see the villages and the island's cathedral; or you can kayak, snorkel, or swim in the lake's refreshing waters.
