Insights on Trade, Educational and Tourism Relationships between Malaysia and UAE

Malaysia is one of the Asian Tigers, a set of economically emerging countries that are seeing a large increase in their economic growth in the past couple of decades. Whereas, UAE is another emerging Middle Eastern economy, which relies on its oil exports, growth in real estate, and new enterprise startups.

Recently, the Chairman of Iqra Group, Dr. S.M. Tahir had an opportunity to meet with the Consul General of Malaysia, H.E. Mr. Mohammed Fadly Amri Aliaman. The focus of their conversation was mainly on the relations between the two nations and covered a wide array of topics including, education, trading activities, and tourism.

Trade

H.E. Mr. Mohammed Fadly discussed the current account trade balance between both countries, saying that the partnership between both countries has strengthened in recent years indicated by the increase in trade by almost 7%. Excellency admitted that currently, it was the UAE that had a positive balance on the current account largely due to the great proportion of oil imported by Malaysia (accounting for 40% of Malaysian imports from the UAE). Furthermore, he discussed that Malaysia's main exports to UAE were palm oil and tin.

When asked about the areas of greater potential in trade between both countries, Excellency stated that Artificial Intelligence seems to be the prime candidate especially considering that UAE stresses the latest technology and sustainable projects. Excellency believed that the collaboration between both countries on this technology would help them to expand trade and generate new employment opportunities.

There was also a discussion over what steps Malaysian authorities were taking to encourage entrepreneurs to export more to the UAE. To which Excellency replied that the Malaysian Trade Development Corporation had overseen this matter, providing guidance and monetary assistance (subsidies) to new startups to increase their exports. Furthermore, Excellency also stressed the importance of exhibitions and events to make “ones presence felt in the UAE”, this is because the UAE is a large and competitive market.

Education

When speaking on academic collaborations between both states, Excellency stated that it has been good but requires further expansion. Excellency says that 1020 UAE students are studying in Malaysia whereas; only 50 Malaysians are doing so in the UAE. Excellency believes that this difference is an indication that more efforts are required to maintain the balance in this matter. There have also been multiple exchange programs between many universities in both countries. Moreover, measures to expand Malaysian institutes in UAE include, visiting high schools in UAE and informing them about the cultural and academic facilities present in the country of Malaysia.

The topic of exchange programs was also talked about and the Excellency said that assistance was being provided to Malaysian students regarding admissions in the UAE and other Middle Eastern countries in the form of guidance. Furthermore, open houses are being held for UAE students to inform them about the higher educational facilities and institutes in Malaysia.

Online Learning

When discussing e-learning Excellency felt that since the children are becoming more and more accustomed to the use of technology, hence online learning is possible on a level like never before.

Excellency said that the pandemic lead to the growth of many online learning tools which have drastically increased the standard of education gained online.

Tourism

H.E. Mr. Mohammed Fadly said that Malaysia has the potential to attract more tourists from the UAE. Excellency believes that natural destinations, areas of natural greenery, and divergent landscapes ranging from the mountains in Penang to beaches in Lankavi would be a new experience for UAE tourists from the bustling metropolitan.

He further stated that steps were being taken to make the Malaysian locals aware of the various attractions and tourist destinations in the UAE.

It was felt that the discussion provides valuable insights into the existing relationships between Malaysia and the UAE and different areas where their collaboration needs more improvement. In addition to this, since Malaysia and the UAE both are emerging economies, thus they can benefit immensely from their association and partnership together.
